KOSOVO: What are we fighting for?

A look at why the United States is involved in the war in the Balkans

by Mike Post
Editor-in-Chief

As college students we, are all victims of not paying attention to the world outside of Providence. We have a very specific vision and do not focus on issues unless they are brought up in a history or social psychology class. One issue that you should be interested in is the current fighting in Kosovo. What exactly are we fighting for? I will attempt to answer that question.

Kosovo is a province of Serbia, which is the core of the former Yugoslavia. The region boasts that 90 percent of its population are of Albanian rather than Serbian origins. They had a large degree of freedom in the old Yugoslavia, freedom that President Slobodan Milosevic revoked.

In retaliation last summer, the Kosovo Liberation Army began its guerrilla campaign to gain independence from Serbia. In retaliation President Milosevic, leader of Serbia, launched a brutal offensive against the region's ethnic Albanian majority.

Milosevic's army attacked civilian populations, destroyed villages and drove hundreds of thousands of Kosovar Albanians from their homeland. As the totals of civilian casualties began to come in, NATO threatened military action against Milosevic. Under pressure from NATO Milosevic signed a cease-fire agreement in October 1998.

Many members of NATO thought that the cease-fire and the harshness of the Balkan winter would provide leverage to press the Serbs and the KLA into a peace deal. But by January the conflict was escalated again with the massacre of 45 civilians by Serb forces in the village of Racak. By February, NATO demanded that both sides meet in France to sign on to a Western-authored peace deal, or face military pressure. During the two weeks of talks in France, both sides failed to produce results. After a brief hiatus from the talks, the two groups reconvened. In March, the KLA had accepted the peace deal but the Serbs refused. As a result Milosevic launched another large-scale offensive in Kosovo. Thus creating the current air strikes by NATO.

But why did the United States get involved? NATO opposes independence for Kosovo on the grounds that this would spur secessionist movements, and create more hostility in an already volatile region. The U.S. and its NATO allies are trying to force both sides to accept a compromise, restoring Kosovo's former rights held in the former Yugoslavia. As a result of the constant air strikes thousands of refugees have head into neighboring Macedonia. Many people are hungry, homeless and in need of medical attention. The fighting has already caused problems for the U.S. . As of publication three U.S. soldiers had been captured as a resulting of crossing over into Serbian territory. The men are currently being put on trial for war crimes against the Serbian armed forces. As well as the downing of a Stealth Bomber.

For years the fighting has been occurring in the Balkans. Reasons range from religious oppression to battles for independence but the question remains will it ever stop? The fighting will continue occupying pages in the history books, writing new chapter, after new chapter but, what will be resolved? Most likely nothing. Therefore certain countries must re-evaluate why they are bombing a region that will just continue fighting well after they have left.

A bombed building on fire in downtown Belgrade. The bombing is part of a NATO attempt to end hostility in that region.

Waking Up to A Burning Blaze

Ten JWU students left homeless after early morning fire

by Ryan Ford
Staff Writer

On Saturday March 27, ten Johnson & Wales students woke up to a burning blaze. The Cranston Fire Department was called to the scene around 5:15 a.m. The three story four unit house was burning furiously. The 10 students of the University were sleeping at the start of the fire. The house in the Edgewood section of Cranston has been condemned, with the front wall of the house being destroyed and the roof demolished. These students are now looking for new housing.

The fire was under investigation for several days and the outcome has led firefighter to believe that a cigarette left burning on the front porch is the cause of the fire. This is a reminder to students living on or off campus that cigarettes or any other flammable items should be taken care of. Many students gripe about how they can't have candles, smoke or have certain things in the residence halls, but it is bad enough that ten of our students have to look for new housing, just imagine five hundred.

A Message from President of JWU John A. Yena

As the President of Johnson & Wales University, it is a privilege and pleasure to announce the good news that the University has received ten-year continuous accreditation from the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Commission on Institutions of Higher Education. Special thanks go to members of the Johnson & Wales faculty and academic staff for preparing a superlative self-study and shepherding the accreditation process to a successful conclusion.

In extending the University's accreditation to the year 2008, members of the Visiting Team and the Commission had words of high praise for the distinctive career oriented mission of Johnson & Wales and the high quality of its academic program offerings.

Comprised of a group of distinguished higher education peer professionals, the Visiting Team and Commission extended special recognition to the University for planning and attaining the University's institutional goals, assessing its institutional effectiveness and student learning outcomes, achieving several major administrative accomplishments, strengthening its liberal arts core, and improving its library and learning resources.

University executive staff found the Visiting Team's observations and recommendations particularly helpful in planning for continued improvement in communications, organizational development, and in strengthening the University's first doctoral program in Educational Leadership.

For those senior staff and faculty who assisted in the self-study process, you should know that representatives of the Commission gave high marks for the self-study's comprehensiveness, thoroughness, and attention to detail. Indeed, the University's senior staff leadership team were described as energetic, entrepreneurial, and genuinely concerned with providing quality service to students, and fair treatment of the University's workforce. Significantly, the Commission recognized Johnson & Wales noteworthy contribution to the economic revitalization and well being of the greater Providence area.

The Commission's ten-year accreditation action extends to the entire institution including all campuses and represents the highest level of confidence and recognition by eminently qualified peer professionals who share a common appreciation and value for continuous quality improvement demonstrated by the University.

The entire Johnson & Wales community should take pride in the University's accomplishment of receiving a ten-year accreditation - this achievement reflects on the hard work and dedication of faculty, staff, students, alumni, and trustees who have a natural stake and deep commitment to the success of the University. Through the accreditation process, Johnson & Wales has accomplished significant self-improvement, as well as increased stature and reputation in the academic community.

The University will submit a progress report to the Commission in August of 2001 and a fifth year report in the Fall of 2003, with the next comprehensive evaluation scheduled for the Fall of 2008. This sequence of progress reports will provide the University with an opportunity to update the Commission on our continuing self-improvement process, as well as the pace, progress, and direction of our efforts to address the Commission's helpful recommendations.

TEXAS TALK WITH ARMARD

by Armard Anderson
Contributing Writer

Texas has always been a land of extremes. Since the beginning it has attracted and bred people who were 'bigger than life.' It's always been a place where things just seemed to happen bigger, bolder, first, or faster.

BIGGEST:

Okay...so we're not the biggest anymore (but if Alaska ever melts, watch out!). Anyway, Texas does make up seven percent of all the United States land mass and at 267,277 square miles Texas is bigger than all of New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois combined.

Texas is SO BIG that the city of Dalhart, in north Texas, is closer to the capital cities of New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, and Oklahoma, than it is to Austin, the capital of Texas.

In Amarillo, at the famous 'Big Texan Steak Ranch' the house specialty is a 72-ounce Porterhouse steak with a shrimp cocktail, baked potato, and bread. It's on the house if you can eat it all in 1 hour, $50, otherwise.

At 311 feet tall, the Texas State Capitol building is not only the tallest state capitol, but it's about 7 feet taller than the United States Capitol.

Texas has the largest road system in the U.S. In fact Texas' 14,237,283 registered vehicles travel over 307,576,000 miles each day on our 220,000 miles of roads and highways. There is not data on how many of them are actually going anywhere.

Texas is so big that El Paso, on the west border, is closer to San Diego, California (722 miles) than it is to Texarkana, on the east border (816 miles), and Texarkana is closer to Chicago, Illinois (782 miles) than to El Paso (same 816 miles). Many a traveller across the state has been heard to say "The sun has rose, the sun has set, and Here I is in Texas yet!"

LITTLE KNOWN TEXAS FACTS:

Most folks think of Texas as pretty much flat, which it is in some places (in fact some say the panhandle is so flat that on a clear day you can see the back of your head), however, Texas has 16 peaks over a mile high, and the city of Fort Davis in West Texas, is only about 100 feet lower than the famous 'Mile High City,' Denver, Colorado.

Not everything in Texas is big. There is a mature forest of Harvard oak trees in the Monnahans' Sandhills state Park. None of which are over 3 feet tall. This is only a small part of our 22,000,000 acres of forests and woodlands.

Texas is home to the smallest Catholic church in the world. St. Marlin's church just outside of Round Top, is only 12 by 16 feet, including the steeple.

In 1897 a Texas Horny Toad was sealed in the cornerstone of the Eastland County Courthouse. He was found dormant, but alive, 31 years later when the courthouse was torn down. He was named Old Rip, after Rip Van Winkle, and went on a nation wide tour, including a visit to President Calvin Coolidge at the White House.

Quincy Morris became the first Texan to kill a vampire (at least in Bram Stoker's novel Dracula). When he plunged his Bowie knife into Dracula's heart. He did, however, loose the girl.

Texas is home to 14.8 million head of cattle. That is a few more cows than the number of people living in Florida, the fourth most populous state in the U.S.

Muleshoe, Texas, is home to the only monument in the world erected in honor of the mule.

Texas produces about 6,200,000,000,000 (6 trillion 2 hundred billion — in case you're wonderin') cubic feet of natural gas each year. That's enough gas to cook all of Texas' cows, medium rare.

CSF Mission Trip to Washington D.C.

Christian Student Fellowship lends a helping hand

by Florence Cruz &
Jennifer Fuller
Christian Student Fellowship

During Spring Break, eight students from Johnson & Wales Christian Student Fellowship and advisors Andy and Amy Haynes, went on a mission trip to Washington D.C. While in D.C., they stayed at the Jochening Baptist Community University in Ohio. Both groups worked together in an after-school program for elementary age children, spent time with Senior Citizens at one of their weekly meetings, and helped in a soup kitchen. Their motivation to spend their spring break serving others was their belief in Jesus Christ and His teachings.

The after-school program was for the children in the community and included Bible stories, songs, games and crafts in addition to helping students complete their homework. Each day a different student read a Bible story that depicted how much Jesus loved them. The group also taught the children songs, played a variety of games, and helped the children complete crafts that were prepared for them.

As part of the Community Center's weekly programs, we were able to spend some time with about 30 senior citizens. During this time students had a chance to share personal experiences that God has helped them through, to sing hymns, and to play board and card games with them. The students also got to hear the senior citizens share about their life experiences and felt blessed to have shared the day with a group of people who had given so much to their community.

Two days were spent in a soup kitchen, where the students prepared and served food for many homeless in the D.C. area. They were pleasantly surprised to find out that the director of the soup kitchen went to Johnson & Wales. The time with the homeless gave the students an opportunity to understand a little more about life in D.C. and a new realization that we should not take for granted anything that we have.

The trip was a time of helping in a community as well as a learning experience for the students that were able to go. A lawyer once asked Jesus: "Teacher, which is the greatest commandment in the Law?" Jesus replied: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind." This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: "Love your neighbor as yourself." The mission trip to D.C. was an opportunity to live out this teaching.

Holocaust Memorial Services Planned for Month of April

by Rabbi Benjamin Lefkowitz
Jewish Chaplain

Fifty-four years ago, on the 27th of the Hebrew month of Nisan, five days after the end of Passover in the year 5705 on the Jewish Calendar, the Allied armies liberated the concentration camp of Bergen-Belsen. The Western World was forced to confront what it had refused to believe or had hidden on the back pages of the newspapers. Horrifying letters and news dispatches, confirmed by film, compelled the world to acknowledge the grisly truth of the "Final Solution."

From that day on, the 27th of Nisan became a day etched into the collective memory of the Jewish people. Witness the testimony of Boris Kellman, compiler of an anthology of Yom HaSho-ah (Holocaust Memorial Day) observances held in Leningrad (now St. Petersburg) from 1981-1990:

We have in the Jewish calendar such dates, when the national memory is concentrated around tragic events on the...historical road: 9th of Ab: the destruction of the First and Second Temple; 14th Adar: Purim, and recently... the Jews of the entire world are commemorating the victims of the Great Catastrophe of European Jewry on the 27th of Nisan. The generation who witnessed this colossal tragedy is still alive, and there is not one Jewish family who did not lose some relatives or friends. Millions of our contemporaries remained forever in annihilation camps or disappeared in the smoke of the gas chambers.

Indeed, for more than five decades now, the Jewish people have chosen to imbue the 27th of Nisan with special significance, the better to remember-and therefore, we hope, to prevent-a recurrence of that which almost ended Jewish survival. It is in this light that we must view the events and actions in Kosovo.

Those of us who have been in Israel on Yom HaSho-ah will never forget the experience. Sirens sound, and everything, everything, comes to a standstill. Conversations halt in mid-word, all activity ceases, save for emergencies. To this day I remember the eeriness and the chills of that moment. In this country, communities gather in special observances to bear witness once again to the depths to which hatred can drag the human race, and the indomitability which kept the Jewish heart beating, to rise like a phoenix from the ashes in the form of the State of Israel.

The urgency of the need for such observances grows with each passing year. Kellman's statement that the generation of the Holocaust is still alive will soon no longer be true: the number of survivors and liberators is shrinking.

As a reminder, then; as an act of bearing witness, Hillel will sponsor two special Sabbath services. On Friday, April 16, at 6:15 p.m. in the CBCSI, we will hold a commemorative service for Yom HaSho-ah, Holocaust Memorial Day, which this year falls on April 13. The following week, Friday April 23, at the same time and place, we will hold a service in honor of Yom Ha-atzma'ut, Israel Independence Day. Please join us that night. We will be touching on the past, on its meaning for today, and on the future.

JWU Announce Scholarship for Single Mothers

Two year scholarship set up in name of NBC drama "Providence"

Johnson & Wales University announced recently that it is offering a full two-year tuition scholarship - valued at $31,680 - in the name of Providence, the highly acclaimed new television show that airs Fridays on NBC. Thomas L. Wright, vice president of culinary education at Johnson & Wales University, made the announcement with Providence Mayor Vincent A. Cianci, Jr., at a "Providence Night Reception" hosted by the Providence Film Commission in Los Angeles.

The recipient of the Johnson & Wales/Providence scholarship will be a single parent, in honor of the "Joanie" character on the show Providence, who is looking for a second chance at life and is interested in a culinary career. In the ninth episode of the show, Mayor Cianci, playing himself, awarded a culinary scholarship to Joanie.

"We know how difficult it can be for single parents to get the education they need in order to realize their dreams," said Wright. "We would like to take this opportunity to show our support and understanding and offer this unique scholarship."

According to Wright, even though the scholarship is in the name of "Providence", a full two-year tuition scholarship up to $31,680 will be accepted at any one of Johnson & Wales University's four campuses located in Providence, R.I., Charleston, S.C., Norfolk, Vir., and North Miami, Fla.

"We want to make this as easy and accessible as possible for the single parent who is going to receive this award," related Wright.

Deadline for the Johnson & Wales/Providence scholarship is May 15, with entrance to the College of Culinary Arts granted for September 1999. To apply, please write Deborah Machowski, Director of Financial Aid, at Johnson & Wales University, 8 Abbott Park Place, Providence, R.I.

The house was the home for these students for the year. There have been accusations that the house was fully occupied and may have been too crowded. This played a role in getting them out of the fire. The fire was under control after an hour of firefighters working hard to put it out.

The ten students survived along with a dog, unfortunately two pet cats were killed in the fire. The students are fortunate that they made it out okay. The courageous firefighters on the scene made it out fine too. The students were accommodated by the university and comforted by friends. This brings the subject of safety and responsibilities that living off campus may bring. Take time to think if you can accept all the problems and responsibilities that will come with the territory. Know the circumstances you live in and communicate with roommates.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross was on the scene and if you have any donations or gifts, you may contact them to see where to send them. If you send them to the Campus Herald we will get them to the students involved. Remember when you are looking for that great place for next year, be sure to look for the unseen and obvious. You have to live there for nine months make sure it suits your needs. Please be careful with all flammable objects and be responsible for yourself.

Celebrating Women on Campus

by Denise Olivio
Contributing Writer

Out of 12 months of the year, March is the only month that is reserved for Women alone. So what is the purpose for us women to have our own month? Is it just for us to brag about our privileges and gloat that it's "our" month? Is it a month for us to just realize and become aware of the outstanding women in history (excuse me, "her story")? No, it's more that just that.

It seems that we only hear frequently the names of Eleanor Roosevelt, Jackie Kennedy Onassis, Susan B. Anthony, Clara Barton, Harriet Tubman, Janet Reno and Dorothy Day during this month. Yet, we don't have to look in "her story" books to find strong positive women who make a difference in people's lives. Please allow me to throw in some other names of outstanding women who may even be seated right next to you: Doctor Karen Silva, Chef Carol Burque, Tanaya Walters, Meagan Really, Isis Radcliffe, and last but certainly not least - Lydianna Rodriguez.

Prior to the event on March 30th, the Dominican Student Association and Sigma Lambda Sigma Hermandad Latina, Inc. passed out surveys on both Providence campus'. On the survey, there were three areas where one could nominate a professor, staff member, and a student at Johnson & Wales community who have been superb role models.

On March 30th the Dominican Student

Association and Sigma Lambda Sigma Hermandad Latina, Inc. had an awards dinner to congratulate these remarkable treasures that are found within the Johnson & Wales University. The dinner was held at the Multi-Cultural Center, as one walked in the room they were welcomed with the aroma of a typical Dominican Dinner, which was catered by the Dominican Student Association.

Of course, the night was not complete without a dynamic guest speaker (Professor Sarah Jackson-Malik), who spoke about her experiences in the Hospitality industry and some discrimination she came across in England.

For example, what would you have done if a male customer refused to speak to you, as the front desk manager, because you happen to be female?

11TH YEAR!

Ringling Bros. And Barnum & Bailey Illuminates the Imagination

The 129th Edition of the Greatest Show on Earth Comes to Providence Wednesday, April 28 through Saturday, May 2, 1999

In a masterful display of human and animal collaboration, the 129th Edition of Ringling Bros. And Barnum & Bailey presents the World's Only Living Carousel, a shimmering spectacular of awe-inspiring proportions. Athletes, acrobats, elephants, ostriches, alpacas, yaks and more - breathtakingly adorned in a montage of dazzling bejeweled costumes - perform together to create the most elaborate illuminated circus spectacle ever seen within the three rings of the Greatest Show on Earth, coming to the Providence Civic Center on Wednesday, April 28.

From the moment the whistle blows, you'll step into a spun-glass world of carousels and camels, a mysterious world of thrills and chills. Ringmaster vocal virtuoso Johnathan Lee Iverson takes you on an emotion-stirring, magical journey through a crystalline jeweled world filled with more than 200 of nature's most beautiful animals and the world's most fantastic flyers, terrific tumblers, boldest balancers and comedic clowns. Nowhere else but at Ringling Bros. And Barnum & Bailey could this community of kindred circus soulmates convene.

This year's spectacular showcases circus families presenting acts that have spanned the generations. Featuring everything from horses to housecats, this is "The World's Largest Traveling Menagerie," a global galaxy of the world's most glorious gifts and an amazing array of the adorable and astounding, beloved and beautiful. Skills passed from father to son are taken on a whole new tantalizing twist when the masters of the highwire, the trapeze, The Globe of Death, and the Wheel of Wonder wow audiences with their flights of fearlessness, executing unimagined aerial acts of death-defying skill and strength. This spectacular, inspired by the visionary direction of Phil McKinley, also celebrates the fabulous funsters who deliver an all-new hilarious line up of comedic capers.

By getting to the show early ticket holders of all ages can literally "Put a little circus in your life" by joining Clown Alley's Masters Mayhem as the take a powder, get painted and mix it up in this year's Three Ring Adventure. Tickets go on sale at the Providence Civic Center at 401-331-0700 or Ticketmaster 401-331-2211.

Show time is 7 pm on Wednesday, April 28; Thursday, April 29; and Friday, April 30. Show times for Saturday, May 1 are noon, 4 pm and 8 pm and for Sunday, May 2, are 1 pm, and 5 pm. The Adventure opens one hour prior to show.

SOUND BITES by Kelly Jones

THE RETURN OF TWO GREAT BANDS AND THEIR LONG AWAITED ALBUMS.

After being out of the scene for four years, the Red Hot Chili Peppers regroup as a whole. Since guitarist John Frusciante has returned to the band, he has put together around 28 new songs with counterparts Chad Smith, and Flea. Anthony Kiedis still has to write lyrics to complete most of them, but it seems the band will have an unnamed release on June 8 along with a heavy touring to follow. The band has not released any one of the many songs to be on the album yet, but it sounds like it will pack a punch the way "Blood Sugar Sex Magic" did with Frusciante from 1989-1992. Maybe they're back.

Another episode in dramas is the band STP (a.k.a. Stone Temple Pilots), who, for the first time in more than two years, played together live. On March 16, at the Viper Room in West Hollywood, the band performed a 70-minute set for an invitation crowd only. Weiland was sporting an orange mohawk while the Southern California quartet played some of their hits - "Plush," "Sex Type Thing," and "Vaseline" - which controled radio air play in the mid-90's. The band seems to think with Weiland's drug troubles behind him the Stone Temple Pilots are healed and are once again ready for game.

WOODSTOCK, JUST ANOTHER MUSIC FESTIVAL

Last year the promoters who own the rights to the Woodstock Festival put on a concert in Bethel, NY. This concert wasn't promoted nearly as much as The Tibetan Freedom Fest or even The Woodstock Festival held in 1994, which had crowds estimated up to 350,000 people. Of course the festival last year was called "A Day in the Garden" and the lineup wasn't too extensive or impressive. The weekend wound up with 10,000, 15,000, and only 25,000 people each day. It wasn't small but was nowhere near the crowd in '94 or even '69 for that matter.

This year it's happening again! The promoters of Woodstock have put together another weekend festival for music freaks this summer. It is to be held in Rome, NY, which is about 250 miles north of Manhattan. The promoters are using a decommissioned Griffiss Air Force Base, which they hope will cut back on gate jumpers. At Woodstock '94 150,000 fans successfully crashed the gates, joining 200,000 paying customers. Because of this, Woodstock wound up losing close to $8 million. The plus so far for this summer's show is the musical lineup. As of now, the penciled in lineup could feature acts such as Aerosmith, Metallica, DMX, Dave Matthews Band, Ice Cube, Jewel, Rage Against the Machine, Korn, John Fogerty, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Sheryl Crow, Fatboy Slim, Alanis Morissette, and many more.

Nothing is set in stone and bands such as Guns & Roses and Marilyn Manson have already denounced in the show. Their reasons are pathetic: Manson will not play simply because he can't be promised a night performance, and Guns & Roses are not performing because they say they are not going to have a new album out in time. I see no purpose for the new record to interfere, fans would much rather see a classic performance than another "Spaghetti Incident". The tickets for the July 23-25 festival, which will mark the 30th anniversary of the original Woodstock, will go on sale later this month.

Although we have yet to totally eliminate narrow-mindedness and discrimination, it's good to know that there are women out there who do stand up for their, and all of our rights (females) to say, "Hey! I'm a human being too, and I don't have to take this anymore!"

Women - today we don't belong inside the small narrow box that society has put us in the past. We no longer belong "only at home" but outside of the box as well! So, to all mothers, daughters, cousins, friends, girlfriends, grandmothers, aunts and sisters, we are all women and we must celebrate our triumphs and existence yesterday, today and tomorrow!

Congratulations to all and don't let our pride end on March 31st, but let it continue on, until...

Providence Instrumental Performer's
Ensemble (P.I.P.E.) Seeking New Members

by Juan Soto
Student Life Editor

How long has it been since you've tooted your horn, banged your drum, slid your trombone, etc...? It's now possible to do those activities here at Johnson & Wales University, thanks to P.I.P.E. P.I.P.E stands for the Providence Instrumental Performer's Ensemble. Anyone who has previous experience is welcome to join. It's easy to join! All you have to do is show up at a meeting. Watch for signs and flyers announcing times and dates. P.I.P.E. plans to have a marching band, pep band and a concert/jazz band. Music styles range from traditional favorites to jazz hits to modern day radio stylings.

P.I.P.E is not just a band. It's also a colorguard. Anyone with previous dance experience is also needed as well as flag and banner carriers are also needed and welcome! Watch for signs announcing try-outs. If you wish to support P.I.P.E, they are selling Mother's Day Grams. What is a Mother's Day Gram? It's a card sent to the person of your choice for only $1. All you have to do is choose a card and give us the address where it's supposed to go. P.I.P.E members will make sure it gets there in time for Mother's Day!

Get your instruments and flags ready! P.I.P.E is coming to an event near you! Their next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 14th at 8pm in Plantations Auditorium. See you there!

Messages from the candidates...

I am interested in the position for Student Government Association Vice President because it has always been a dream of mine to try to change everything I do for the better. As Vice President, I will not make promises that I can't keep, however I will assure you, that I will do everything in my power to keep the promises that I do make. My goal, is to hear people compliment Johnson & Wales University, rather than slander it like most people often do. If elected, you, the student body will not be disappointed.

-Kenneth Knobel

As Vice-president of Student Government for the 1999-2000 term I see many opportunities that lie ahead for the students of Johnson & Wales. Serving my fourth year in Student Government, I see the value of empowering the student body and plan to give every student a voice in making our University better for tomorrow.

-Melissa Doolin

I believe that the student body could be much more active than its present state. My goal is to see more participation in fun activities, such as concerts by mainstream bands, and by creating a positive atmosphere positive things fall into place.

-Brice Freer

This year I had the honor of serving as Speaker of the Senate for the Student Government Association. Now I hope to carry my ambitions to another level. As a candidate for President, I have built my platform around four simple concepts: vision, progress, leadership, and results. I look forward to having the opportunity to meet many of you while campaigning for this spring election. Best wishes and best of luck to all of the candidates.

-Jerilyn A. Campos

My name is Anna Pettersen and I hope that the student body will elect me their next Student Body President to lead them into the next century on April 27th. I hope to bring to the campus an improvement in overall campus activities and/or clubs, better sense of togetherness between the Harborside and Downtown campuses and overall improvement in student - faculty relations. If you want to ask me any questions feel free to come by Renaissance Hall and see me or call me at extension 3033.

-Anna Pettersen

I am running for Student Government Association President. If elected, I would like to improve Student Government's reputation and visibility on campus and within the University. I would like to see more support and involvement from the student body and the SGA. Student Government is not in need of any drastic changes,only to improve the systems in place, which will make the SGA's mission known to the University. Therefore Student Government will become more recognizable; the student body will know what the Student Government Association does.

-Chavonne Thomas

Horoscopes by Bobbie Watkins

Leo- Don't sell yourself short. You want the best so, settle for the best.

Virgo- Lately you have been in the mood to let things flow the way they are, whether you like them or not. You don't give up easy but you get aggressive too often.

Libra- Don't spend more money than you have. To you it's easier to spend than to save.

Scorpio- Someone or something has clogged your mind. You can't focus on what you need to. Sometimes others don't notice it but you do.

Sagittarius- You tend to make plans that never workout. Remember to have plan Two.

Aquarius- You have to know its not just right or wrong, it's the way life is. Don't say "Why me?" because the answer will be "Why not you?" Get past it. Go to a party. Relax.

Pisces- You are a very emotional person. Even if you don't show it to anyone. The people that you are close to can see how you feel and love you anyway.

Taurus- You love surprises. It maybe something simple or creative but a surprise to you is something special. It may come this week.

Capricorn- You like to be the center of attention when you are around people, but this week you have been shying away from that. Don't give people the impression that something is wrong.

Aries- Things can't be going more smoother than it is now. Stay on that happy vibe. When people see you happy than they are happy.

Gemini- You have a gift to do things. Don't just sit around the dorms be apart of an organization. It's better than watching the Brady Bunch reunion.

Cancer- This maybe the one you have been looking for. Introduce yourself. There are only two things they could do. Turn you down or talk to you.

WILDCATS WIN GNAC MEN'S V-BALL TITLE

by John Parente
Sports Editor

When Johnson & Wales played Rivier in the regular-season finale last Tuesday, there wasn't a soul involved that didn't think the Raiders and the Wildcats would end up playing for the Great Northeast Athletic Conference championship four days later.

When JWU beat the Raiders, 3-0, on that Tuesday night, however, there was still some doubt as to which team would win the league title. Rivier may have lost in three games, but they showed they had talent enough to pull off an upset.

But on Championship Saturday, the Wildcats left absolutely no doubt. And with Nick Shea playing the best volleyball of the year, JWU carbon-copied its Tuesday night performance, beat Rivier in three games, and copped the very first GNAC men's v-ball title.

Shea, the unanimous choice for the tournament's Most Valuable Player award, spanked 22 kills and led the 'Cats to the championship. He hit a near-impossible 22-of-32 at the Raider team that gave a good fight, but was no match for Shea and the rest of the Wildcats on this day.

Shawn McArdle added 18 kills and was named to the All-Tournament team, as was Raj Dhekar, JWU's reliable all-purpose freshman.

The Wildcats grabbed a huge advantage by taking a hard-fought first game. Game One was tied at 1-1, 4-4, 5-5, 6-6, 7-7, 8-8, and 9-9 before a McArdle kill and a Raider error on Shea's serve made it 11-9. The 'Cats made it 12-9 on a Rivier error on Kyle Bryant's serve.

Led by their sensational jumping menace, Chris Jorge, the Raiders closed back to within one at 12-11, but Dave Bender had a kill to make it 13-11. After a back-row attack, Dhekar came up big from the outside with a major spike, and the Wildcats won it, 15-11.

JWU took command with a 15-8 win in game two. McArdle had a block, a kill, a dink, and an ace to guide the Wildcats to a 5-3 lead. Bender served four straight points to make it 9-4, and Shea took care of just about everything else. The MVP had two blocks and three kills in the final stages of Game Two, and the 'Cats cruised, 15-8.

Still, Rivier didn't fold. The Raiders had a 4-2 lead in the third game when Shea came alive again. His kill on Dhekar's serve made it 4-3, Rivier. After Bryant came up with a softie to tie it, Shea delivered a mammoth blast to the floor to give the Wildcats the lead, then slammed another one home to make it 6-4.

The Raiders, behind the talented Jorge and hard-working Bill Renaud, brought it back to 6-6. But Bender and Shea came up with kills, Dhekar saved a side-out with a great dig, and the Wildcats led, 8-6. Shea made it 9-7 with his 20th kill of the afternoon and 10-7 with his 21st. Dhekar had two kills and Wallace Phaire added another to bring the Wildcats to 14 points.

Finally, after three unsuccessful match points, McArdle put the hammer down from the outside and the celebration began.

Rivier had a much tougher road to the championship than the Wildcats did. The Raiders had to defeat Endicott in the opening match of the tournament. JWU played in the Edgar Winter Bowl in their semifinal. The Wildcats got a "free ride" when Daniel Webster was unable to field a team.

With the victories over Rivier, the Wildcats finished at 9-13 overall and 7-9 in the North East Collegiate Volleyball Association, which is the other league that JWU competes in. The Wildcats finished third in the New England Division of the NECVA, one game behind second-place Western New England, and one game out of a NECVA playoff spot. That's not bad at all for a team that had only two returnees (Bryant and Dave Hildebrandt) and a freshman-dominated roster.

The GNAC will add Western New England next season, while Lasell College will join the NECVA, giving the Wildcats two more quality league opponents.

MEN'S TENNIS TEAM CONTINUES TO ROLL

by John Parente
Sports Editor

Spring. You know it's here when the certainties come to pass.

The temperature rises, the sun is warmer, the trees bud, and the Johnson & Wales men's tennis team wins.

The most predictable of all of the certainties may just be the tennis team's success, because the schedule's done a year or two in advance, so everyone knows when the first win will occur.

Now that may sound a little pompous, but, once again, the tennis 'Cats didn't disappoint again this season. JWU's tennis team, which started the 1999 campaign 47-6 in their last four years, has won its first four matches of the new year, and all in convincing style.

The Wildcats bounced Rhode Island College, 7-2, for the third of their four wins to kick off the campaign. And, bolstered by the addition of their reliable international players, JWU had no problem padding their unblemished record.

Ahmed Hassan, playing at number-one seed for the first time in the new year, ho-hummed his way to a 6-1, 6-0 victory. Peter Kornerup, playing at third-singles, didn't give up a set to his opponent. Jon-Daniel Sjogren, Nick Daugherty, and Rob Pleva also won in straight sets, and the 'Cats walked away in a laugher.

Hassan and Kornerup won their doubles match, 8-3, while Sjogren and Daugherty had to fight for a 9-7 win over RIC's Eric Pinho and Keith Elliott, who played extremely well.

Pleva has been the early-season workhorse. He's been forced to play at number-one three times, but the New York native has come up strong, winning each of his first four matches and taking a pair of wins in doubles play as well.

The Wildcats, who opened their Great Northeast Athletic Conference season last weekend against Albertus Magnus, play Endicott on the 14th in another GNAC event before travelling to Wentworth for a non-league encounter on the 16th.

SOFTBALL 'CATS SPLIT WITH PINE MANOR

by John Parente
Sports Editor

How many times have you read and heard about "convincing victories"?

How about "convincing splits"?

The JWU softball doubleheader against Pine Manor College was just that. Pine Manor, 3-0 in league play, came away convinced that Johnson & Wales is a vastly improved softball team when they had to fight the Wildcats off for an 8-4 win, then dropped a 13-3 decision to JWU.

The split put the Wildcat record at 5-3; and the fifth win is significant in that it matches the total from last season after only eight games. What Johnson & Wales has done with its softball transformation is nothing short of magnificent. Just ask Pine Manor.

The Gators put the top strikeout artist in the Great Northeast Athletic Conference in the middle of the diamond in game one, and their Nicole Green didn't disappoint. The lefthander fanned nine Wildcats, but had to fight for the win when JWU put together a pair of rallies that tied the game 4-4 in the sixth.

Pine Manor sped from a 1-1 first-inning tie to a 4-1 lead with three runs on just one hit in a frenzied third. But JWU didn't panic. In the fifth, the Wildcats closed to 4-3 when Andrea Turner walked and LaChanna Franklin and Tina Toppan reached on consecutive errors. Toppan scored on Laura Hutchison's grounder to third to pull J-Dub within one.

In the bottom of the sixth, Rachel Buturlia spanked a clutch double to plate Kellie Meilleur with the tying run, and the Wildcats had pulled even with a team that hadn't lost a conference game all year.

But the Gators lined four hits in a row and regained the lead and control of the game, finally winning it, 8-4.

The second game belong to JWU. After spotting Pine Manor a 2-0 lead, the Wildcats scored one in the first on a Michelle Peake single, and nine more in the second. Peake had a three-run triple in that inning, while Franklin and Mindy Collison each sent runs across with singles. Combine those hits with four walks and two hit batsmen, and the Wildcats' only opponent became the setting sun.

In the twilight of a perfect early-spring day, the Wildcats first extended their lead on singles by Hutchison, Peake, and Michelle Killen, then relied on the defense of Toppan, Franklin, Turner, and the rest to put the clamps on the doubleheader split.

The Wildcats take on their two New Hampshire rivals in key GNAC games this coming weekend. Daniel Webster comes to Pierce for a doubleheader on Saturday. The Wildcats go to Nashua to play Rivier on Sunday.

BASEBALL TEAM CONTINUES TO MAJOR IN HISTORY

by John Parente
Sports Editor

The Johnson & Wales baseball team set all kinds of records last year when they captured their first-ever Great Northeast Athletic Conference championship.

The Wildcats must have really enjoyed making history, because they've taken it to another level so far this season.

Johnson & Wales currently ranks among the nation's offensive powerhouses-scoring nearly 11 runs a game in their first dozen games. The Wildcats won ten of their first 12-their best start in school history. They've twice scored 17 runs in an inning. They've pushed their GNAC-leading team batting average to an incredible .396. So what can they do for an encore?

How about finding a way to etch their names into the NCAA national record book?

Sophomore Josh Matthews had hits in 12 consecutive at-bats, to set the NCAA Division III national record, a downright tremendous achievement.

Not only did Matthews break the country's consecutive hit mark, he tied an overall NCAA record with three hits in one inning when he homered and singled twice in the 17-run first inning that fueled JWU's GNAC win over Daniel Webster. Matthews became only the ninth player in the national history of Division III baseball to get three hits in a single inning.

A utilityman from South Dennis, Massachusetts, Matthews broke the consecutive-hit record in the second inning, when his single dropped into shallow center field. The hit broke a mark that had been held jointly by Eric Guyton of Mary Washington College, Aaron Kramer of St. Norbert College, and Matt Simpson of Ohio Northern. Matthews had gone three-for-three against Southern Vermont, then went five-for-five when JWU lost to Mass. Maritime. His streak ended in his fifth trip to the plate against Daniel Webster, when he flied out to center field.

The Wildcats later raised their seasonal mark to 11-2 when they bashed Anna Maria, 16-10. Rick Desmarais had three home runs (one off the national record, FYI) and Bill Saltzman had four hits including two homers as JWU's bat were ablaze again.

Johnson & Wales currently has four of the Great Northeast Athletic Conference's top seven hitters (Matthews, Rick Sawyer, Jan-Michael Giglio, Alberto Gonzalez); its top two leaders in slugging percentage (Gonzalez and Desmarais); and the league leaders in doubles (Sawyer and Gonzalez), and homers (Desmarais).

With all of that offense, and the spotlight upon it, the Wildcat pitchers have quietly developed into quite a staff. Freshman John Muszkewycz and sophomore Jay Minassian have joined Ken Scholl to form a formidable trio of quality chuckers.

Scholl is 2-0 and has whittled his earned-run average to under 2.00. Minassian threw a four-hit shutout in JWU's 1-0 win over Norwich last week, while Muszkewycz has been the most pleasant and most promising surprise. The Wildcat shortstop has come up with two solid pitching performances, including a complete-game effort in the second game of the Norwich doubleheader, which JWU won, 5-3.

Just how good this JWU team is will be known this week. Tuesday's pivotal conference doubleheader against Albertus Magnus will be followed by a double-dip with in-state rival Salve Regina. This weekend, the Wildcats will go to Springfield to play a pair with Western New England, and will then return to Pierce Stadium in East Providence for two with Colby-Sawyer.

The final GNAC doubleheader is on the road in Beverly, MA, on the 20th, against Endicott College, the pre-season conference favorite.
